

TWO MEN KILLED.

The New Year Ushered in With a Terrible Accident.

B. F. Halladay and William Patton Almost Instantly Killed at the C. & S. Crossing in Waco.

A Witness Says Their Horse Became Unmanageable and That They Did Not Stop, While Others Say an Attempt Was Made to Get Across the Track Ahead of the Approaching Engine—Skulls Crushed in and the Bodies and Wreckage of the Wagon, Carried for Some Distance—The Statements of Persons Who Witnessed the Fatality—Coroner Conklin Investigation.

New Year's day, William Patton and Benjamin F. Halladay, residents of Waco, were driving home from town in a two horse wagon. They had brought a load of wood to the city and were on their way home to dinner. As they crossed the C. & S. railway at Waco the wagon was struck by shifting engine No. 45, Patton had his skull crushed badly, the brains oozing out of his ears. His right thigh was also crushed; his death was instantaneous. Halladay had two scalp wounds and his skull crushed. He lingered on from the time of the accident, about noon, until three o'clock when he died. The horse had gotten across the track and was only slightly injured. The wagon was broken to pieces.

The crossing is an open one where the track can be seen for some distance both ways, and the men must have miscalculated the distance the engine was from the crossing. Halladay was a man 45 years of age. He leaves a wife and two children in Waco. Patton was 60 years of age.

Coroner Conklin was notified and made an investigation of the cause of the accident. The men were driving south while the train was going east. Patton was thrown about 225 feet from the crossing and Halladay about 160. The engine ran some thirty or forty feet farther than where Patton lay, before it could be stopped.

Catharine Dawson was on the porch at her home and saw the wagon coming down the road. She did not see the engine whistle, but saw the wagon struck and the men thrown. Was very positive the engine gave no signal. The engines are in the habit of running past this crossing without whistling.

Marion Gibbs was standing in his father's yard at the time the accident happened. He had been down the road and had ridden down home with Halladay. Halladay appeared to be sober. When the wagon passed the house, the horse was trotting. About a hundred feet from the crossing the horse broke into a gallop and Halladay was saying on his horse's mouth seemingly in an effort to check its speed. Heard the engine whistle and it was blowing off steam when it passed. There was a man standing on the crossing making signs to Halladay to keep back but his horse seemed to be beyond his control. When he first saw Halladay he had the lines wrapped around his hands. He thought the horse was frightened at the engine.

Abraham Murphy is the mail carrier at Waco and lives just across the track where the accident happened. He said: "I saw the engine coming and also saw Halladay coming down the road, and it looked as if each wanted to make the crossing first. They were both coming at a very rapid rate. I heard a signal given by the engineer, neither whistle or ringing of the bell. When I first saw the engine they were between Bell and Avenue and the Waynesburg road crossing, probably about 300 feet away. The engine was coming at a very rapid rate, and I am positive there were no signals given. Halladay was driving a very fine mare. The engine struck the wagon first in the rear of the front wheels. I saw a man in the name of Newton standing on the crossing making signals to Halladay. I do not know whether the men were intoxicated or not. It is nothing unusual for the engines to run past this crossing at a high rate of speed without giving any signals. After the engine struck the wagon it ran some distance before it could be stopped. The engineer who was running the shifter said the first he knew of the accident he heard his freeman yell, and looking out, saw a horse's nose appear on the side of the engine. He reversed his engine but it was too late. The freeman saw the men but did not think they would attempt to make the crossing. The funeral of the unfortunate men will take place in Akron Friday afternoon."

RHEUMATISM PREVALENT.
Caused by the Sudden Changes of Temperature.
Rheumatism is more prevalent here than ever before. When this disease fastens upon an individual with its soreness and pain, swelling the joints, rendering him helpless in his movements, he is indeed an object of pity. The slight pain in the back, pain or stiffness of the joints or muscles, is a warning indication of an impoverished blood, the blood, a low state of health, and if not attended to at once, means rheumatism. Rheumatism can now be cured.

Since the introduction of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, there have been fewer sufferers. Favorite Remedy drives out rheumatism poison from the blood, restores the circulation, strengthens the nerve power. The best proof of its value, is the good it has done. "I was afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism for fifteen years," writes Mr. E. P. Taylor, of East Nassau, N. Y. "So severe that I was supposed to be a cripple for life. Under physician's treatment I grew worse. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helped me from the time I first used it, and entirely cured me."

The beautiful daughter of Mr. James McFarland, of McDonough, Iowa, was helpless for months with acute rheumatism. After a few doses of Dr. Kennedy's Remedy, she began to grow better, appetite improved, sleep well, and continuing its use, was cured.

Mr. G. L. Lashley, of Troy, N. Y., had rheumatism so bad that he had to be turned over in bed. After using Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy but a short time, he was restored to health. Why then suffer with rheumatism or neuralgia? This medicine will help you.

MORE LYNCHING.
Another Bad Man With a Military Title Goes Off at the Lower End of a Rope.

Mr. Sterling, Ky., Jan. 2.—(Special).—Capt. Blair, accused of many crimes, and notorious, was taken from jail and lynched this morning by a mob. The sheriff only made a show of resistance. No arrests, no regrets, no tears.

The War in Africa.
By Cable to New Deventer.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Important news from the Congo. Twenty French soldiers were attacked by a large force of natives and all of the former were killed. No particulars.

Prof. Albert E. Menke, of the Kentucky State Agricultural College, writes: "I have found on examination Dr. Price's Baking Powder to be the strongest and most wholesome in public use."

Julius Caesar Becomes Confident.
LANSING, Jan. 2.—(Special).—Julius Caesar, Burrows claims he will be the next U. S. Senator for Michigan. The leading candidate are Julius Caesar Burrows, Schuyler Olds, Secretary of the Late Senator Stockbridge, and John Patton, who was appointed by Governor Rich to succeed Stockbridge.

SOUNDLY THRASHED.

McRoberts Looks For Trouble and Succeeds in Finding It.

William T. McRoberts, a well known Canton man, celebrated New Year's day by getting intoxicated. He was in a prominent bar room at 5 o'clock last evening and so was Mead Johnson, the colored pugilist. McRoberts and Johnson had quite a discussion which resulted in the former getting mad. He wanted to fight Johnson and took off his hat, overcoat and coat for the purpose of doing it properly. Friends of Johnson told him he should not pay any attention to McRoberts as he was intoxicated and Johnson, being colored, would have to stand the bludge of public opinion and very sensibly refused to fight and even took more from McRoberts than any white man would have taken. When McRoberts found that Johnson would not accommodate him with a bout he wanted to lick anybody in the house. The bartender then ordered him out of the place, not desiring any trouble there.

He refused to go and it was necessary to eject him by force, but he immediately returned to get even with the bartender. Officers Brishin and Reed were then called to arrest McRoberts, but before they arrived he had succeeded in getting the bartender to accommodate him with a scrap. The bartender threw a glass at McRoberts. The glass missed him and struck the wall. The bartender then came around from behind the bar and when he met McRoberts, McRoberts was soundly thrashed and got what he was looking for, a black eye and a peeled nose.

Dr. M. D. Bush and some other friends of McRoberts later succeeded in securing his release through an order from the mayor.

MARRIED IN PARIS.

Mr. Jacob Grossman Weds Miss Cora Neighdich, an Accomplished Young Lady.

The social event of the season was the wedding of Mr. Jacob Grossman and Miss Cora Neighdich, which was consummated at the home of the bride's parents near Paris, at 12 m., January 1st, 1900. The wedding march was played by Prof. D. W. Crist, at the close of which the bride and groom were conducted into the spacious parlor by Rev. Earnst, who performed the ceremony, after which the guests, numbering about forty, sat down to a table loaded fit for a king, to which all did ample justice. The groom is well and favorably known by a host of friends, and is recognized as one of the best informed men of St. Louis. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished lady, and the only daughter of Mr. Neighdich, a prosperous farmer of this township. May their future be a happy and prosperous one is the wish of a large circle of friends.

ANTITOXINE.

The New Remedy Being Used With Success by a Local Physician.

A well known physician has been having good success with Antitoxine, the new diphtheria remedy. The first case on which it was tried was Louis Reiffmeyer, the little son of Mr. Reiffmeyer on Pennsylvania avenue. The little fellow had been given up to die by his former physician. The other physician was called and concluded to try the Antitoxine remedy. The remedy was injected twice, at home, and in twelve hours the child's dose his throat cleared off and the little fellow was sitting up in bed. A son of John Prichard, on Mahoning street, was also treated with Antitoxine with a like favorable result. The doctor says that if nothing new develops in the Reiffmeyer case he will be all right in a few days. The only drawback to the remedy is its cost. The remedy costs about $7.50 a dose. This includes the doctor's fee.

THE WAR IN THE ORIENT.

It is Bound to Help American Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(Special).—Senator Davis, of Minnesota, says the war in the East will greatly extend our American commerce. Senator Davis has given much study to the Eastern question.

MORTON'S BID.

The New York Legislature Meets.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—(Special).—The legislature met and organized this morning. Gov. Morton's message is a strong document, prepared with great care and adroitness and evidently a bid for higher honors in 1900.

Gen. Manderson Will be Succeeded by Thurston.

LANSING, Neb., Jan. 2.—A caucus of Republican members of the legislature nominates last night John M. Thurston, of Omaha, to succeed Senator Manderson.

A Boom in East Liverpool.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 2.—(Special).—The potteries are all preparing to resume on full time with full force. The outlook is said to be promising. Thompson's, Laughlin's, Sebring's, McNeil's and Knowles' put on their full complement of clay hands today. Chetwynd's, the Standard and several of the river potteries will start next week.

More Currency Needed in Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 2.—W. S. Putnam & Co., hardware and queensware dealers, have assigned. Assets and liabilities about $8,000 each. Poor collections caused the assignment. Mrs. Kate Putnam, of the company, is the widow of Gen. D. C. Putnam, late commander of the department of Ohio, G. A. R.

Good Prices for Young Bank Tails.

LEXINGTON, Jan. 2.—L. F. Fields, this city, has sold to Henry McDaniel, of Chicago, the three year old chestnut colt, Shield Bearer, by Wagner, dam by Harry O'Brien. Price $2,000. To same party the three year old bay colt Caldwell, by Jila Johnson, dam Nannie D., by Alardi. Price $1,000.

Mills Was Once the Idol of Texas.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 2.—A resolution, which will be introduced in the next Legislature, has been framed here requesting Senator Roger Q. Mills to resign his seat in the Senate. The grounds taken are that he does not represent Texas. This resolution is liable to provoke an angry debate, as Mills has been regarded as the ablest Democrat in Texas.

The gold in the medal awarded to Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder at the California Midwinter Fair is not higher than the incomparable record of the powder itself.

A Dangerous Rival to the Notorious Steve Elkins.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 2.—Hon. John B. Floyd, editor of the Charleston Evening Mail, announces himself a candidate for the United States Senate in opposition to Hon. Stephen B. Elkins, heretofore the only avowed candidate. Mr. Floyd has canvassed the state and claims enough Republican votes to defeat Elkins in the caucus.

A January thaw is always more productive of colds and coughs than a January ice. This is the time Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is needed and proves so extremely efficacious. Ask your druggist for it, and also for Ayer's Almond, which is free to all.

The greenhouse and offices of Dr. L. G. Lantz at Carrollton, were burned Saturday. Loss $1,200. No insurance.

THE SECOND LIFE.

Purgatory and Paradise Compared by a Man Who Has Seen Both.

A Miracle Worked in the Rural Recreances of Bordino Creates a Sensation.

From the Evening News, Syracuse, N. Y.

Albert Applebee was a very sick man. He had been ailing for months and had been compelled to remain home, unable to attend to his business. His friends had tried about the few small stores in the village of Bordino and discussed the sad condition. Applebee was a carpenter and a good one, too, but since his strange malady overtook him he had not shown any disposition to do any work. Life had lost its charms for him, and he became a misanthrope and lost everything. His friends advised him and the local doctors tried their skill on him but it was of no avail. Although they no doubt diagnosed his case correctly, he grew worse despite their efforts.

Then came a change, he entirely recovered his former self and soon went about his work as lightly as a lark. Now he is just the same genial, jovial fellow that he was before. This was a surprise, everybody had given him up for dead. His remarkable recovery had made such a stir in the small town and the townspeople were regarding it as so miraculous that a "News" reporter was sent to Bordino to investigate. He drove over and found Mr. Applebee himself on the roof of a house he was building. When asked if he would mind relating his experience to a reporter Mr. Applebee expressed his acquiescence by coming down to the ground. He came down the ladder without showing any signs of his recent trouble and laughed with a good hearty laugh as he shook his head and with the hand of a squame which betokened much physical strength.

Well, it was just this way, began the carpenter, who is a good-looking man of about fifty summers. In the fall of 1890 I had a siege of grip which took me by the heels and threw me flat on my back in bed. It was a pretty bad case, for me as it was very sick and I never expected to get out again except for a long time in a coffin. But I recovered after a long sickness but was left with an ailment which was not worth living. I had a very painful. I had a scrofula in my head for two years and a half or over and there was a sickening discharge from my right ear. I took about every medicine known to the medical fraternity but could get no benefit.

"I was also troubled with a severe pain in the stomach and indigestion which made me feel that my life was not worth living. At last I began taking a medicine known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People which were recommended to me by a friend who had read of them in some of the country papers. But I gave it a trial and was surprised to find that it benefited me. I tried more and at last thank God, I was cured. My ear has discontinued discharging and for the past three months I have been perfectly well. I make these statements merely because I think the world should be acquainted with this remarkable recovery.

Mr. Applebee finished his story and climbed the ladder to resume his work, there was no halting, no coughing, no sign of his recent illness as it takes to tell it he was hammering shingles in the roof, sitting there the picture of health.

Several of Mr. Applebee's neighbors were seen by the reporter and they in turn expressed their confidence in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after seeing the wonderful change they had wrought in him. One said the cure was simply wonderful as the man had lost his appetite and could not sleep and was a total wreck. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are under analysis to contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an infallible specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuritis, rheumatism, nervous headache and the after effects of the grip, inflammation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated discharges of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or 3 boxes for $2.00). They are neither sold in bulk or by the hundred, but by the dozen. Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment as inexpensive as compared with any other remedy.

NEW YEAR'S SPORT.

SOME LIVELY BRUSHES IN NORTH MARKET STREET.

Hundreds of People Witness the Exhibition of Speed on the Beaten Snow Path—Numerous High Steppers Keep the Interest Alive, With the Honors Easy—Some Fine Turnouts—The Crowd Insists Upon Standing in the Street.

Hundreds of people visited North Market street Tuesday afternoon and watched the sport on the snow path. The track was well beaten and some rare sport was the result. The brushes were not entirely between horses owned by men who make horses dealing a regular business, but staid business men who know that a ride behind a trotter puts new life in a man, joined in the procession. There were some fine turnouts and everybody enjoyed the exhibitions of speed. There were no accidents, though the crowd insisted upon getting out into the street and increasing the danger of accidents. A driver going north cannot see the horse coming, owing to the big crowd. If the men would fall back they could see as well if not better from the curb.

There were some fast ones on the snow Tuesday afternoon. John Hosler was out with Sleepy George. The horse went well in the snow and kept his feet in an excellent manner. It was stated that on Monday Jack the Ripper did not come down ahead of Sleepy George. A confounding of horses caused this error, as Jack the Ripper came down ahead. Sleepy George was in the front rank Tuesday, when driven by Mr. Hosler. One of Hosler's running horses was out and paced Sleepy George down the street on one occasion, making a big sensation. Dr. E. D. Brunt, J. F. W. S. Shertzer, T. C. Nighman, Messrs. Lowenstein and Mr. Hosler had some lively brushes with horses easy. Peter Miller drove a strong, gray horse and came down with the bench more than once. Dr. Grant Mitchell, Ed. Buckins and Gus Dammiller had fast animals and greatly enjoyed the sport. Geo. H. Spangler came down more than once at the head of the procession. He was driving merely for pleasure and just happened to go up the street. As a diversion he consented to come down once or twice and he came down lively. Harry Winterhalter had a new cutter, and his horse went much better than it did the day before. J. L. Robb drove a little pace that cut a big figure during the afternoon. Phil Aiken had his sorrel pacer out and was in it with the leaders. Dr. A. C. Brant was driving a fine horse, but took little part in the brushes, preferring to be a spectator. F. B. Werner's turn-out created many favorable comments, but Mr. Werner took it easy, and could not be persuaded to come down with the group. C. B. Mell was on the street with Mr. Weitz's pair of paces, but did not let them come down the street. Editor Freese enjoyed a ride behind a fast one and was much admired. He handles himself well on the snow, and his admirable pose in a brush caused many favorable comments, particularly from the fair sex.

The sport will continue while the snow lasts, and the crowd should keep back. There will be no accident if the track is kept clear.

People on North Market street are complaining about the street being stopped up, and unless the men and boys keep off the street and give the horses and cutters a chance, Mayor Cassidy is likely to put an end to the sport.

The flashing eye, the buoyant footstep, the rosy complexion, can all be traced to the superior food cooked with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

OHIO TRADES' ASSEMBLY.

It Assembled at Columbus This Morning. K. of L. Assembly Meeting.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 2.—The State Trades and Labor assembly met here this morning at 10 o'clock.

At the Ohio State assembly K. of L. resolutions were offered severely condemning Sovereign and Hayes for their treatment of the Ohio delegates, and advocating secession from the K. of L. The conservatives, under the leadership of President Pansomer, made a fight against the adoption of the resolutions, and it was finally decided to submit them to the locals and settle the matter at a special meeting to be held in September, before the meeting of the general assembly.

It was decided to urge the legislature to make provision for the adoption of the "initiative and referendum" in log legislation.

The following officers were elected: State master workman, B. G. Ransomer, Zanesville; state worthy foreman, Joseph D. Strain, Marietta; secretary treasurer, Joseph A. Lauer, Zanesville; executive board, J. Graham, Piqua; George D. Moulton, Snaw-wha, and J. D. Strain, Marietta.

A Great Wolf Hunt.

DE GRAAF, O., Jan. 2.—The hunters from the northwestern counties of Ohio enjoyed a great success in the hunt. Ed Ackenbaugh brought six wolves from the Rocky mountains for the great field day. The sports first made a 30 acre enclosure for a fight between a wolf and bound on which there were heavy wagers. Two more rounds were turned and when there was a row among the better. Revolvers were drawn and bloodshed threatened. The wolf was lassoed and caged and the contest declared a draw to preserve peace. Then one wolf was let loose without the enclosure and 50 bloodhounds pursued, with an army of horsemen. The hounds of Jacob Loffer of De Graaf and of John Graham of Hagerstown caught the wolf and won the prizes.

AGAIN ROASTS BURNS.

His Reply Provokes Coal Operator Rend.

ISSUES A RED HOT STATEMENT.

The Chicago Man Tells Why He Made the First Attack on the English Labor Leader in Pittsburgh—Says He Deserved All He Got.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—W. P. Rend, the coal magnate, replying to strictures upon his criticisms of English Labor Delegate John Burns, M. P., makes public the following statement:

"When, at the late Pittsburg convention of operators and miners, Mr. Burns' presence became known to me by a motion of the chair that the conference of the meeting be extended to that gentleman, I felt impelled to perform a most imperative duty.

"My language on the occasion may seem severe, but it was none too much so. It was deserved. It prevented an unfriendly stranger from using that occasion to treat us with fresh insult and further indignity. Mr. Burns came to this country in a representative character. He is a noted labor leader and a prominent member of the British parliament. On this account he was treated, on arrival in America, with courteous consideration.

"Forgetful of every sense of propriety and every obligation of decorum to a stranger seeking hospitality he made offensive criticism of our domestic affairs. He attempted to justify his
